NOTICES.

The branches taught in the Vermont Academy of Medicine are,—1st. Chemistry and Natural History: 2d. The outlines of Natural Philosophy: 3d. Anatomy and Physiology: 4th. Surgery, Obstetrics, and the Diseases of Women and Children: 5th. Materia Medica and Pharmacy: 6th. Theory and Practice of Medicine: 7th. Medical Jurisprudence.

The course of instruction commences at the Medical College in Castleton, on the first Thursday of September, annually, and continues fifteen weeks. There are five Lectures daily, through the whole term, and occasionally six. The matriculation fee is $3; the fee for all the courses, $40; and the graduation fee, $12.—For all which, prompt payment will be required.

To be entitled to a degree, the candidate must have arrived at the age of twenty-one years, and have sustained a good moral character; must have studied the different branches of medicine, either in some medical institution, or with some respectable physician and surgeon, for at least three years, including the lecture terms; must have diligently attended two full courses of lectures, on all the several branches, either at this or some other incorporated institution, the last of which must have been at this; must have passed a satisfactory examination before the Faculty and Delegates from the Vermont Medical Society, and have delivered and defended a written dissertation on some medical subject, to the approbation of the Faculty and Delegates; must have obtained certificates from the Treasurer, that he has paid into the treasury the graduation fee and the prescribed lecture fees.

Having complied with these terms, the candidate shall be entitled to the degree of Doctor of Medicine, unless some sufficient reason appears why he should not be admitted to such honor; and said degree shall be conferred, either at the annual Commencement of the Vermont Academy in Castleton, or at that of Middlebury College, at the choice of the candidate.

In this Institution, medical instruction is continued through the year; and beside the Lecture Term, there are two Reading Sessions of fifteen weeks each.—The first commences the first Monday in January, with recitations and examinations, and an opportunity to pursue dissections, for any that may desire it. Fees, $12.

The second term commences the first Monday in May; and besides the regular exercises of the first term, there will be given a course of Lectures on Chemistry and Natural History, with an additional expense of $5. No member of the school will be required to attend these Lectures, who wishes to pursue the other courses of instruction only.

Students will have the use of a large and well selected library, reading rooms and furniture, with an opportunity to see as much practice in physic and surgery, as is deemed important, previous to entering on the duties of the profession.

The price of board in Castleton, including lodging, room-rent, fuel and washing, varies from $1,25 to $2,00 per week.

N. B. An assistant will be employed who has graduated at the Rensselaer School, and instruction will be given upon the Rensselaerean plan. The superiority of this method of communicating scientific knowledge, over all others in use, being now universally acknowledged as far as it is known, it ought to be introduced at all medical schools.

E. c.—East College; w. c.—West College.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

To be admitted to the Freshman Class, the candidate must be thoroughly acquainted with the grammar of the Latin and Greek Languages, and be able to construe and parse any portion of the following books; viz:—Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, the Greek Testament, and Dalzel's Collectanea Græca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader. He must likewise understand Latin and Greek Prosody; be able to translate English into Latin; and possess a knowledge of Ancient and Modern Geography, and of Arithmetick, including Vulgar and Decimal Fractions, with the doctrine of Roots and Powers.

N. B. A bond for the payment of the College bills must be delivered to the Treasurer, at the commencement of the second Term.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION AND STUDY.

FOR THE FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.—Sallust, Cicero de Officiis, Murray's English Grammar, Porter's Analysis, Arithmetick reviewed, and a portion of Dalzel's Collectanea Græca Majora.

Second Term.—Græca Majora continued, Cicero de Amicitia et de Senectute, Jamieson's Rhetorick, and Livy.

Third Term.—Græca Majora continued, Livy continued, Day's Algebra, and Priestley's Lectures on History.

Through the Year.—A portion of the Greek Testament, on Monday morning; written translations from Latin and Greek into English, and from English into Latin; and frequent exercises in reading and speaking.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.—Horace, Algebra concluded, Playfair's Euclid, and Morse's Geography.

Second Term.—Horace concluded, Græca Majora continued, and Day's Trigonometry, and Mensuration of Superficies and Solids.

Third Term.—Græca Majora continued through the first volume, Tacitus, Hedge's Logick, Day's Mensuration of Heights and Distances, Navigation and Surveying, and Paley's View of the Evidences of Christianity.

Through the Year.—A portion of the Greek Testament, on Monday morning; written translations from the Latin and Greek Classicks; English compositions, discussions, and declamations.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.—Tacitus concluded; Græca Majora, second volume; Dutton's Spherical Trigonometry and Conick Sections, and Enfield's Natural Philosophy.

Second Term.—Cicero de Oratore; Græca Majora continued, and Enfield's Natural Philosophy concluded.

Third Term.—De Oratore concluded, Græca Majora concluded, Enfield's Astronomy, Vince's Fluxions, and Paley's Natural Theology.

Through the Year.—Greek Testament, on Monday Morning; and frequent exercises in composition, forensick discussions, and declamations.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.—Blair's Lectures, Paley's Moral Philosophy, Vattel's Law of Nations, and Locke on the Human Understanding.

Second Term.—Stewart's Elements of the Philosophy of the Human Mind; Brown's Lectures on the Philosophy of the Human Mind, and Butler's Analogy.

Third Term.—Butler's Analogy concluded, and Brown's Lectures continued; with a review of the College course of studies.

Through the Year.—On Monday morning, a portion of the Greek Testament; and frequent exercises in declamation, composition and forensick discussion.

Declamation. In addition to the exercises in Elocution before the respective instructors of each class; the senior class, in succession (four each week) declaim before the whole College, after evening prayers, and twelve (four from each of the three lower classes) speak every Wednesday afternoon.

Lectures. In the course of the four years, Lectures with appropriate experiments, are given on Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, and the several branches of Natural History.

Extra Studies. Any students, who wish to pursue Mathematical studies beyond the required course, receive private instruction from the Professor in that department. Assistance is likewise furnished to all who wish to obtain a knowledge of the Hebrew, French, German, Spanish, and Italian languages. And for the acquisition of any of these languages, as well as for classical and philological pursuits generally, great facilities are furnished by a free access to a Philological Library, which is open an hour every day, under the superintendence of the Professor of Languages, or some other officer.

Examinations. All the classes are carefully examined, twice a year, before the whole Faculty, a Committee of the Corporation, and such other gentlemen as are disposed to attend: And the Seniors are particularly examined on the various branches of their College studies, six weeks before Commencement.

EXHIBITIONS. One for the Sophomore Class, on the day preceding the Spring vacation; one for the Junior Class, on the last Wednesday in November; and one for the Senior Class, on the evening of the same day.

VACATIONS. The first, four weeks from commencement; the second, seven weeks from the first Wednesday in January; the third, two weeks from the third Wednesday in May.

COMMENCEMENT—On the third Wednesday of August.

N. B. The usual expenses of a liberal education are very much diminished by the ample library of the Beneficent Society; from which indigent students are gratuitously furnished with text books; and other students, at a small expense.

To prevent unnecessary expenses, as well as for other important purposes, it is recommended that every student from a distance, especially if young, should be placed under the particular patronage of some gentleman in Middlebury, who will attend to the appropriation of his money.
